

Dear Neighbors of 611 W. 112th Street,

The removal of the 4,000-lb. oil tank within the 611 W. 112th Street building has been temporarily postponed and will no longer be performed this week. The project team anticipates this work will take place during the next week or two. We will issue another update once this work has been rescheduled.

In addition, the project team will be scheduling removal of old elevator parts in the building. We will share the anticipated timeframe of this work once it has been scheduled.

Please note that on an ongoing basis contractors will be onsite removing debris from the building. This activity will continue until the building renovations begin.

If you have any questions or concerns, please don't hesitate to let me know. Thank you for your patience.
